Responsibilities and Expectations of Learning Collaborative Leadership and Participants

A full list of benefits, overview and commitment can be found in the CSLC Overview document.

Participation in the CSLC is voluntary and not required for Title V Block grantees. States and jurisdictions will be selected for participation based on their commitment and willingness to address the following criteria:

States and jurisdictions that participate in the CSLC:

- Select at least one of the four designated topic areas – Bullying

Prevention, Motor Vehicle Traffic Safety (child passenger and teen driver safety), Suicide and Self-Harm Prevention and Sudden Unexpected Infant Death Prevention. It is recommended that new states/jurisdictions choose no more than two topic areas. Continuing states/jurisdictions are encouraged to sustain current teams and add additional topics as appropriate.

- Establish a state/jurisdiction specific aim for their topic areas focused on the reduction of injury-related fatalities, hospitalizations, and emergency department visits. Strategy Teams are asked to work on one to three evidence-based strategies for each topic they selected. Each participating team will have access to a topic-specific Change Package that contains a menu of evidence-driven strategies and accompanying measures and guidance for data collection.
- Form a Strategy Team on each topic area selected and ensure active member engagement in the CSLC monthly activities. Team membership can develop over time and should include key staff and partners for each child safety topic area selected. Strategy Team members can come from state or jurisdiction health departments, and/or from partner organizations from the public or private sectors.
- Implement quality improvement strategies and tools
- Maintain leadership engagement throughout the cohort. Senior leaders in each state/jurisdiction are expected to guide and support the Strategy Teams. The leaders are a critical part of catalyzing, implementing, spreading, and sustaining change. This support may require attending regular meetings, designing a feedback structure, and providing guidance to team members.
